

I would like to say that I am extremely upset with the petition by the Consumer Bankers Association to weaken Indiana's telephone privacy laws. I am sick to death of people trying to shove their products on us, let alone in the privacy of our own homes. We are supposed to feel safe in our homes from this type of harrassment and by allowing the petition, you are taking away our security and our right to privacy. Does that not matter to anyone? Doesn't the CBA realize that we do not want to be bothered at home? Otherwise, there would be no such thing as the telephone privacy law. On behalf of my family, I am asking that you do not allow this. Thank you.
